BIG MOMENTS IN BIG PICTURES

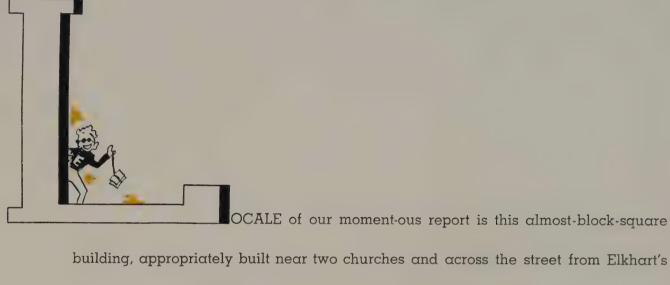

. . . learning and lectures, classes and contests, drama and dances, fact and fancy and fun, activities and action, toil and triumph . . . add them together, with a dash of drill and drudgery for the perfection that comes of practice . . . and you have our year at a typical American high school.

yearbook staff (there we are at work on the opposite page) pounded out reams of copy, burned up dozens of flash bulbs taking pictures, spent hours preparing engraving material . . . so that you may have this record of your big moments in this, The Pennant Annual of '42 building, appropriately built near two churches and across the street from Elkhart's seat of government (City Hall) and learning (Library). Here's where we learn of the past, and study the present, so that we may be better prepared for the future.

NOW FOR OUR BIG MOMENTS

CADEMICALLY speaking (or should it be writing?) guidance and exams and report cards provided many of our most memorable big moments. Exams taught us the value of preparation; understanding talks with faculty members brought us an appreciation of friendly aid and counsel. Report cards proved the adage there must always be an accounting, whether good or bad.

UR studying was usually done in large rooms like this, with teachers like Mr. French, sitting in the rear to see that we kept away from comic books. Recitations provided us with drill and discussion, directed by teachers like Miss Broughton, with whom we studied events of the past and attempted to understand the affairs of the present.

Not all our Big Moments . . . are at school and those strolls home are usually interrupted by coke dates and stops for talk ... talk which is often about parties like the senior prom, which thrilled us with tempos and tunes and a chance to wear that special dress . . .

ANY of our most serious moments came when we thrilled to achievements in activities, accomplishments which came usually from careful democratic planning at meetings like this session of the STUDENT COUNCIL ...

THIS WAS THE YEAR WHEN-

Assembly programs kept the student body informed and alert. These programs, planned by the Morale committee, showed what all committees were doing by showing films on incendiary bomb, fire-fighting, conservation, first-aid, and room-warden duties. The halls were alive with posters which were inspiring and thought provoking.

A new alarm was installed and drills were carefully planned for and rehearsed so frequently that the danger of panic in an actual raid was greatly diminished.

A number of organizations began actual war work: sewing clubs became Red Cross clubs; model plane clubs allied themselves with the government plan; the first aid club was vitalized into serious and wide-spread study of efficient procedure.

Perhaps we were never more completely unified as a school and as a part of the community than when, on April 24, we marched in the all-city Victory Parade. Following the banner "Elkhart Public Schools Marching Along Together with the Community" and proceeded by the E.H.S. band and all the teachers and employees of the city schools, we marched, whistling and singing, four abreast down the streets of Elkhart. It was a thrilling moment and gave the students who were part of that parade a feeling of devotion and patriotism.

Another evidence of our cooperation with war efforts and community affairs was the part our faculty played in the federal sugar-rationing system. Many of our teachers, already busy with classes and extra-curricular activities gave many hours to this task of ration cards for wholesalers, retailers, and consumers. So in all these ways, most of us, by the end of the school year, had really tried to do some small part in the "all out for Victory" program.

Monday, December 8... we left our classes and study halls and went quietly to the auditorium. It was lunch hour, but nobody thought much about lunch—everyone was still too shocked and bewildered. Then we heard the vibrant voice of the President of the United States—our nation was at war.

Few of us fully realized what that meant. We heard the radio reports; we heard our parents talk; we discussed war news in our classes, but war did not seem close or real. Then we read about Elkhart boys killed in action, our older brothers and friends began to be called into service, and so the war came nearer.

With the beginning of the second semester, the entire school began to be organized on a defense-program basis. Don Veller kept the school program coordinating with the city program until he went into the service. Then the general chairmanship was given to Mr. Gill. All of the faculty members and more than two hundred students were organized into committees that planned everything from food for prolonged air raids to actual fire-fighting brigades. Under Mr. Adams as all-school chairman, the committees were at follows: Air Raid — Mr. Foster; Sabotage — Mr. Glendening; Fire Drill — Mr. Mater, Mr. Organ; Incendiary — Mr. Bell; Evacuation — Mr. Likins; Rescue — Mr. Anderson; Feeding — Miss DePew; Shelter — Mrs. Earhart, Miss Broughton; Morale — Miss Kelly, Miss Cole; Conservation — Miss Busche; Stamps — Miss Robinson; First Aid — Miss Sawyer; Curriculum — Miss Sharp.

As the war went on, we were saddened by the deaths of the following E.H.S. students:

ITTLE MOMENTS ARE IMPORTANT, TOO -

Looking back over the school year we recall many little moments — almost too many to count. No doubt each of you has his own memories and highspots, but we particularly remember: when the policeman stopped our jay-walking; when all the girls suddenly appeared in flight boots (this was b.r.s. — before rubber shortage); when everybody (even Warner) started knitting; when we decorated the tree for the all-school Christmas; when we, the sophs, held our hill-billy party; when each Wednesday found a group of students broadcasting on the Your Schools Series; and when the waste paper campaign began, and people like Tiny had to make sacrifices, when . . .

we influenced the spectators at games to buy candy bars, when the junior play cast went up, when we snatched that last moment to catch up on English Lit., when new romances breaking up or old ones continuing made the Weekly dirt column, when spring came and everyone squeaked about the huaraches, when that empty feeling was relieved in the cafeteria by a hot dog, and that very special moment when the yearbook appeared and the demand for autographs made the scene look like a Hollywood premiere, when posters announced special pep sessions, when everything was a military secret — (sure looks like it), when we "Y" dancers jived to Miller's tunes . . .

AN, WITH HIS HEAD IN THE CLOUDS ...

NE big moment for Mr. Holdeman and Mr. Church will be that day when blue prints for the expansion of the present building will cease to be a dream and become a reality, for they know that a bigger and better school program will then be possible.

The E. H. S. faculty adds war time duties to its teaching load

Speakers, writers, statesmen all agree that the American schools should "carry on" in wartime. And the schools, Elkhart among them, want to "carry on", but this involves a great deal of work and responsibility. While actual war work is being done in the schools, fundamentals must not be neglected, so that teaching must be done as carefully and thoroughly as usual. While students must be inspired and stimulated to help in a war program, they must also be calmed and conditioned for wartime living. While present day activities are demanding all our time and strength, we must constantly be mindful of tomorrow, and be preparing students for the all-important task which will be theirs when the war ends—the rebuilding of the world on the foundations of the four freedoms for which we are fighting.

Early in December, City Defense Chairman Ira H. Church asked for the cooperation of the Elkhart City Schools in the defense program. Supt. H. H. Church responded by appointing a defense board which met with city chairmen in planning preparation for an attack. Every one hoped that the possibility of such an attack was remote, but agreed that preparation for defense was necessary.

The Defense Board picured below, formed the nucleus for the all-school defense program. Each chairman was given a sub-committee, headed by one or two faculty members, and including several students. Working together, these committees set up the defense program. Air raid and fire drills were conducted, first aid instruction was given, and every possible need - from plans for complete evacuation to the feeding of the student body in case of a prolonged raid—was carefully studied and provided for. Meanwhile, morale and curriculum committees stimulated the right kind of thinking and feeling: assembly programs, homeroom talks, movies, posters and classroom discussions. In the buying of defense stamps, in salvaging waste materials, in planning what we could do as individuals, as well as a patriotic group . . .

E. H. S. was all-out for victory

The Senior High School Defense Committee Chairmen

Guidance in personal affairs, as well as courses and vocations, is given by the following counsellors: senior counsellors and assistants to the principal, Miss Marie Sharp and Mr. C. P. Woodruff; vocational counsellors, Miss Clarice Robinson and Mr. E. H. Organ; junior counsellors, Miss Helen Kirkland and Mr. Ivan C. Gill; sophomore counsellors, Mrs. Adelaide Earhart and Mr. R. G. Gemmecke.

This counselling staff, working through the homerooms, is responsible for much of the planning of the school program, and for helping those plans to function. Following the Self-Study Survey inaugurated by Supt. Church, the senior high school curriculum offers a more-highly varied and individualized program for all students. But making that program possible, especially in an over-crowded and under-staffed school, has resulted in many extra hours of work for Principal Holdeman and these counsellors. Their work makes it possible for us to have a well-rounded, democratic education.

Mr. Woodruff Miss Sharp

The Counselling Staff

World affairs . . . the wars that encircled the globe in making the history of tomorrow . . . were naturally the center of interest in all classes during this school year. Blue-print reading, aeronautics, and a summer school program were all added to the course of study; every classroom was alive with posters, maps, and war materials; every recitation was motivated by this interest.

The curriculum, planned for the recognition and training of the individual, was challenged as never before by the need to equip students for living in a world at war, for the days after the war, and for those basic qualities which are a part of the American way of life.

Although a number of our faculty men are registered, only one, Don Veller, had been called into service by the end of the school term. Both men and women of the faculty have been alert in doing war work; taking first aid classes, serving on city committees, acting as block wardens, rationing sugar, and doing dozens of useful things in the community.

The Defense program, initiated in the second semester, added to their regular teaching duties, kept all of our faculty members, pictured on the following pages, busy throughout the school year.

American history . . . the background of our present political and economic conditions; European history — that long bloody story for "balance of power." These wars are the content of courses taught by Miss Florence Hill, head of the history department, pictured above with two students.

Few seniors will ever forget the discussions in American Problems and Civics which were led by Mr. R. A. Sproull, Mr. R. H. Gemmecke, and Mr. W. E. Sands. In addition to daily recitations, these classes attended several civil cases held in the superior court of the Municipal Building, toured the Elkhart police station, and listened to talks by outside speakers.

Mr. R. R. Jordan, Mr. Kenneth Bell, Mr. Wilbur Mater, and Mr. H. P. Berkey, teach courses in American and European history.

From Chaucer to Conrad, Miss Marie Sharp and Miss Ruth Broughton gave us a background of English literature; Miss Dorothy Kelly, taught writing laboratory, the course that prepares us (we hope) for our college compositions.

Miss Louise Busche, Mr. J. F. Wiley, and Miss Gertrude Clendenen teach American literature stressing our rich heritage and the beginning of those ideals which we are now fighting to preserve.

Tenth year English work now concerns itself with the correct use of speech daily. Each student makes a recording of his voice and diction at the beginning and end of the semester. Here we see the teachers of the sophomore English, Mr. Ben Hudleson, Mrs. Adelaide Earhart, Mrs. Ada Sickels, and Mr. Dean B. Smith, with the recorder used in this work.

Those cultural subjects—art and languages — are taught by: Latin — Miss Marguerite Sawyer and Mrs. Frances Avery, Spanish and French — Miss Gladys King, and Art — Miss Eva Cole.

Two new charts, one on Roman dress and the other on Roman soldier equipment have been added to the equipment of the Latin department this year.

The advanced Spanish class concerns itself mainly with the writing rather than the reading of Spanish. Writing consists of original compositions on topics of daily contact. Oral discussions are given, and reports on Latin America add interest to the course.

Both French and Spanish classes have done translations from their respective newspapers and the Reader's Digest in Spanish.

Last year, records were purchased for this department with books by which the pupils may follow and read along with the record. Books about Mexico are rented to the students for further reading.

Although the French department is comparatively small this year, it is hoped that there will be enough interest next year, that the subject may be continued.

Miss Eva Cole is our capable and accommodating art instructor. Under her teaching, a student may graduate on the art course, the junior and senior semesters being in advanced art. Classes do: outdoor sketching, clay modeling, life sketching, cast drawing, and drawing pictures to illustrate music.

Miss Cole assists Mr. Hudleson with the stage designs for class play and also sponsors the Art Club. This semester, in addition to the posters made for advertising purposes, students made defense posters which are hung in the halls as a constant reminder for us to be defense conscious.

A bookkeeping class.

Miss Robinson,
Mr. Glendening,
Miss Kirkland.

The commercial department buzzes with activity all the time—shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, and clerical practice for vocational efficiency; consumer education, business law, and business English for business background information. In addition, a course for college preparatory pupils is offered for one semester without credit.

Miss Clarice M. Robinson, head of this department; Mr. Melvin W. Glendening, Miss Marie Siner, Mr. Howard J. Boyle, and Miss Helen E. Kirkland contribute their full share to the instruction in this department, whose activities are sharply accentuated by the need of trained office help in industry during the present emergency.

Dictaphones, Burroughs calculators, thirty-five units of files, mimeographs—these are the machines which keep the commercial office up-to-date so that graduating commercial students can be placed in Elkhart's business offices as efficient and competent workers. This equipment also serves the entire school. When there's any duplicating to be done, the commercial department does it.

Miss Robinson of this department also does all the N.Y.A. bookkeeping and Mr. Glendening has charge of all school funds managed by the Board of Control.

A new two-year course in retail selling is planned for the future to begin in 1944. A larger room for clerical practice and machine instruction is being planned for 1942-43. Room 213 will probably be used for this and a shift made in bookkeeping rooms, according to Miss Robinson.

Miss Cathcart Mr. Updike

Mr. Likens Miss Waggoner

Aeronautics has been added to the physics courses taught by Mr. Virgil L. Likens. Miss Stella Cathcart also teaches physics classes.

A large number of students are interested in the vital work planned by Mr. Norval Adams, Miss Evelyn Waggoner, and Mr. Glenn Updike.

In the world of tomorrow, chemistry is sure to play an important part. Here in Mr. Gill's laboratory, we learn the basic facts.

From the smallest of microbes to the biggest of projects—the Tulip Tree Campaign, the biology department gives its unified and enthusiastic attention.

Mr. Boone

Keeping fit is more important these days than ever before. We are handicapped by lack of gym space so that we have to use nearby church and Y. M. gyms, but Miss Josephine Lafler and Mr. John Longfellow never let the lack of equipment keep them from giving us the best of physical training.

College-prep mathematics a new course, is taught by Mr. Doyle T. French, head of the department. Other teachers of the department are: Mrs. Zella Boone, geometry; Miss Kathryn Jarvis, geometry; Mr. Lester Kerr, algebra.

While students at first thought that this course would be very boring, they have now found out that it is exceptionally interesting, as well as educational. Students who are planning to attend college, find this course to be of great value. There has also been increased attendance in trigonometry and algebra classes, proving that many boys are planning to take engineering courses upon graduation from high school. Girls, however, are no exception to the mathematics courses. In fact, as the years progress, the number of girls to excel in math increases.

Always concerned with the matter of public safety and public health, Mr. C. C. Boone found an added incentive in his teaching in this national crisis: safety became a matter of utmost importance this year.

Miss Carlson Mr. Bettcher

Broadcasts to South America, broadcasts over NBC, public appearances of our blue-robed choir, concert, contests, . . . these occupy the time and attention of the music department.

Mr. David W. Hughes, head of the instrumental music department, conducts the concert band, the concert orchestra, and supervises all the activities of this busy department. Betty Henderson is his secretary.

Mr. Hughes
Mr. Herzig

Mr. Richard Herzig, head of the vocal music department, directs the mixed choir and the individual girls' and boys' glee clubs. Like Mr. Hughes, Mr. Herzig often furnishes the music for civic affairs.

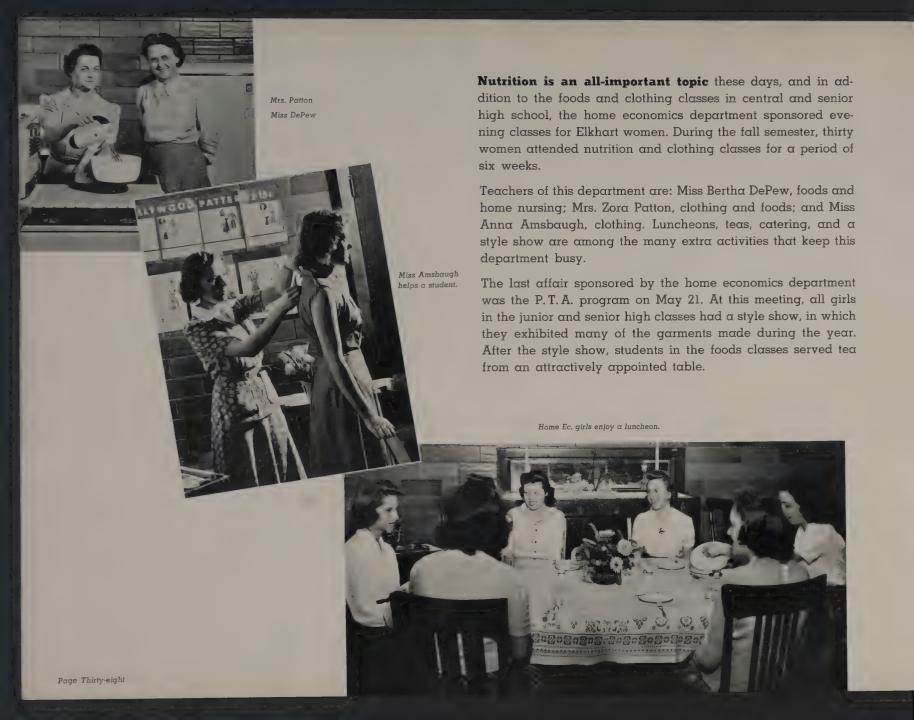

Miss Loretta Carlson is the associate string instructor. Besides the Central Junior High School Orchestra, Miss Carlson directs the All-City Junior High School Orchestra.

Mr. Gerald Bettcher, the assistant band director, conducts the reserve band and the All-City Junior High School Band.

Quiet, efficient, always ready to be of service to teacher or student . . . that's Miss Orpha Book, librarian.

Mr. Woodruff Mr. Fryklund

Mr. Foster

Mr. Organ

Mr. Anderson Mr. Evans, Mr. Williams, Mr. Baughman

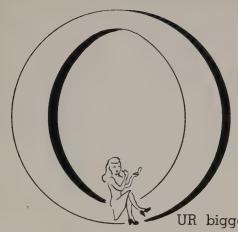

No five-day week for this department: it is busy from morning to evening, every day, including Saturday, five nights a week, more than two hundred Elkhartans are enrolled in classes of machine shop, blue-print reading, and welding. The faculty members also teach classes on Saturday morning. This is supplementary training for employees in local industries and especially valuable in present defense work. Classes in machine shop are taught by Mr. C. D. Evans and Mr. John E. Baughman; electricity, Mr. Robert Fryklund; auto mechanics, Mr. Beryl Williams; printing and woodwork, Mr. C. J. Anderson: mechanical drawing, Mr. James H. Foster; blue-print reading, Mr. C. P. Woodruff, Mr. E. T. Organ is vocational director. He also teaches classes in pattern making.

Five model planes for classroom instruction are a part of the equipment for next year: one military training plane (one-fifth actual size) and a Piper-Club trainer, in replica, a model radiol gasoline type aircraft engine, a blackboard globe, sextant wooden demonstration models . . . all these will be ready for the study of aeronautics.

Five boys, at a special assembly, were given prizes: Lowell Myers, Paul Fremund, Rex Filio, Walter Stewart, and Charles Pettifer, all of whom are seniors graduating on the vocational course. They were also honored at a banquet given by the Industrial Club.

Were freshmen, it seemed centuries away; we watched other classes march down the aisle and thought the time would never come for us. Now, it is here: thrilled, bewildered, excited, and a little frightened, we try on our caps and gowns . . . we're seniors of '42.

Still as green as the proverbial grass, the sophomore class of '42 was called together on March 8, 1939. Officers chosen at this time were: President, Gilbert Weldy; Vice-President, Miriam Schult; Secretary, Betty Lou Johnson; Treasurer, Willard Chester; Social Chairmen, Jeanne Crosier and Joe Winer. Miss Busche and Mr. Gemmecke were chosen as sponsors and have continued to guide us throughout the four years.

Weldy continued as president for the four years, sharing this honor with Ray Humecke when the January class organized as a separate group in the fall of '41.

In the junior year, Weldy was assisted by the following class officers: Vice-President, Priscilla McCartney; Secretary, Marj Kehres; Treasurer, Dick Erdmann; and Social Chairmen, Ray Humecke and Jeanne Grootveld. In the senior year his fellow officers were: Vice-President, Priscilla McCartney; Secretary, Dorothy Ford; Treasurer, Dick Erdmann; Social Chairmen, Dorothea Denman and Bill Miller. President Humecke was aided by these officers: Vice-President, Bob Ernest; Secretary, Phyllis Peck; Treasurer, Stanley Parsell; and Social Chairman, Marianna Spade.

At least once each year, we enjoyed class parties. In the sophomore year, our party was held in the gym on April 21, with ping-pong dancing, and guessing games furnishing the entertainment. Also in the same year, we had a Christmas party in the cafeteria on December 19. Dancing and games were enjoyed, and Dick Erdmann filled the role of Santa very nicely, distributing gifts to all.

In the junior year, a novelty "Sloppy Joe's Bar" held in the cafeteria on December 2, added interest to class parties. Joe Kie's orchestra played for dancing.

Our last party, the traditional "Kiddie" party held in the cafeteria on January 17, climaxed years of partying together. Dancing, appropriate games, and refreshments were enjoyed by the class members.

In our junior year, we began to be a strong class organization. We chose our class jewelry and began to earn money by selling at football and basketball games. In the second semester, we presented our class play "What a Life." The prom at the Hotel Elkhart, honoring seniors, ended a successful year for the class of '42.

In many ways we feel that our class has made a definite contribution to the school. We were prominent in the organization of the Student Council and Stan Warner, one of our outstanding classmates, has been president of this group for two years.

Many of the class have been leaders in the Honor Society and in music, athletics, and publications. We have loyally supported all the school's prajects and although there are many things we could have done, we feel rather proud of the record of the class of '42. Last fall following the election of the two sets of officers—January and June—we started on the road to graduation. Many activities kept us busy, among them the planning of the year-book which is sponsored by the senior class. We were measured for caps and gowns, we chose our announcements, we checked our credits with Mr. Holdeman (and then began to worry.)

Commencement festivities began with the senior play "The Late Christopher Bean", senior day, the prom, baccalaureate, the senior banquet, the senior girls' tea, and commencement.

We the juniors...

Class officers get the dope from chuck. The junior year is the big year: first of all juniors choose their class jewelry, and begin to be aware of their strength and importance as a class. Next comes the prom—long talked of, long awaited, long planned for—an E.H.S. tradition.

This year the juniors met in the gym on October 13, 1941 to elect their officers as follows: President, Charles Cole; Vice-president, Neal Decker; Secretary, Juanita Peters; Treasurer, Jack Rowe; Social Chairmen, Catherine Kipka and Bob Frederick; Sergeant at arms, Dick Miceli.

In November Charles Cole, Russell Lerner, Tom Saunders, Bob Frederick, Jack Rowe, Gerry Humecke, Phyllis Platt, Elizabeth Gustafson, and Maxine Eppers, and the Junior Class sponsors, Miss Siner and Mr. Mater met to select jewelry.

The Juniors held their annual class party on December 2, in the school cafeteria. On February 20 the class met to elect their spring officers: President, Charles Cole; Vice-president, Irvin Zavatsky; Secretary, Betty Flanders; Treasurer, Jack Rowe; and Social Chairmen, Phyllis Platt and Bob Frederick.

On March 13, the Juniors presented the annual junior class play entitled "June Mad'' directed by Mr. Ben Hudelson.

The Junior Pennant Weekly, composed of an all-junior staff, appeared on the day of their class play with Phyllis Platt as editor.

The junior-senior prom, with a theme of "Tropical Island," was held at Hotel Elkhart on May 30.

Five Hundred Strong...

Although we are the youngest class in the high school, we total nearly five hundred. We are just getting acquainted in E.H.S. and are not so well organized as the juniors, but look us over; in athletics, music, publications, debate, and organizations you'll find sophomores enthusiastically doing their part.

We met shortly after the beginning of the fall semester and organized the class. The following officers were elected: President, John Longfellow; Vice-president, Bob Pickering; Secretary, Mary Kate Stemm; Treasurer, Carol Simmons; and Social Chairmen, Barbara Shelley and Tcm Juday. Mr. Howard Boyle and Mrs. Ada Sickels were chosen as sponsors. With the change of semesters, we decided to keep the same officers for the second semester.

Our first party, the Joy-juice Jamboree, was held in the cafeteria on February 14, 1942, with α hillbilly theme. Prizes, dancing, and refreshments were enjoyed by all the Sophs.

Our first real enterprise as a class was our edition of our Sophomore Pennant on April 17. Our editor was Dick Treckelo.

ROWDED days were ours . . . as you can see by the activities calendar Mr. Holdeman is showing to John and Carroll. Here he charts our daily parade of talents so that no conflicting dates upset our extra-curricular life. Proving that not all education is found in books, examine our record of activity: from art to ushers, from music to mythology, from dancing to drama, from parties to publishing.

The seniors sport red sweaters. The junior men give out that smile. Chapter of sophomores.

The dime line, which the senior Hi-Y sponsors, is just one way in which Hi-Y members demonstrate their purpose—to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school a higher standard of Christian character. At their meetings, they have talks, demonstrations, and other educational activities. The Father-Son banquet, the state conference, and the senior outing are a few of their big social events.

The officers are: Fall semester:

President, Gilbert Weldy; Vice-President, Joe Winer; Secretary, Warren Clark; Treasurer, Dick Erdmann; Social Chairman, Ray Humecke; Program Chairman, Bill Miller; Devotions Chairman, John Wallin; Sergeant-at-Arms, George Terlep.

Spring semester officers:

President, Gilbert Weldy; Vice-President, Willard Chester; Secretary, Bob Smith; Treasurer, Dick Erdmann; Social Chairman, Joe Winer; Program Chairman, Jim Lorenz; Devotions Chairman, Stan Parsell; Sergeant-at-Arms, Dick Shelley.

The junior Hi-Y meetings, which are once a week at school and once a month at the Y. M. C. A., consists of devotions reports, and business followed by an educational program. Among the social events which they look forward to are the bean feed, the theater party, and the Father and Son banquet. The Junior Hi-Y also helps with the dime line.

Officers for the spring semester are:

President, Bob Kinney; Vice-President, Kenny Detweiler; Secretary, Bob Frederick; Treasurer, Ray Weidman; Social Chairman, Kenny Detweiler; Program Chairman, Dick McDowell; Devotions Chairman, Chuck Cole; Sergeant-at-Arms, Jim Peterson.

Fall semester — Ir. Hi-Y:

President, Bob Kinney; Vice-President and Social Chairman, Charles Cole; Secretary, Bob Frederick; Treasurer, Gordon Ingram; Program Chairman, Roy Weideman; Sergeant-at-Arms, Jim Peterson; Devotions Chairman, Jim Fawcett.

The sophomore Hi-Y follows right in the footsteps of the two older Hi-Y groups. They, like the other two groups, help to sponsor the dime line and other charitable activities. Their meetings, which are of a serious nature, are devoted to speakers, demonstrations, and devotions. Their social events also include the Father and Son banquet, a Christmas party, and swims at the Y. M. C. A.

Fall semester officers were:

President, John Longfellow; Vice-President, Jim Ebersole; Secretary, Tom Juday; Treasurer, Bob Seidel; Social Chairman, Dick Weaver; Devotions Chairman, John Lipscomb; Sergeant-at-Arms, Joe Gilbey.

Spring semester officers are:

President, John Longfellow; Vice-President, Jim Ebersole; Secretary, Tom Juday; Treasurer, Bob Sidell; Social Chairman, Eugene Ellis; Devotions Chairman, John Lipscomb; Sergeant-at-Arms, Tom Patton.

The Senior Girl Reserves is a very busy organization. Their purpose is to find and give the best. Among their varied programs are speakers, talent programs, junior and sophomore meetings, and a recognition service. The Christmas program, the Pa, Ma, and Me banquet, the Easter service, the Girl Reserve conference—these are just a few of their social events. Giving the Booker T. Washington children a Christmas party and sending baskets to poor people are just two of the many services for which the Girl Reserves prove valuable throughout the year.

In order to make money, the G. R's. had a rummage sale this year. Besides obtaining necessary money, the girls had fun selling different articles.

In accordance with the war situation, all G. R's. brought old clothes hangers from home and sold them to the junk dealer; they believe in killing two birds with one stone — being patriotic and obtaining money. Also, the G. R's., along with other clubs, have had speakers who know about or have been in foreign countries now engaged in the war. Such a speaker was Mrs. Neel, who has traveled around the world. She told of her very interesting experiences in the Philippines, Japan, China, India and Ceylon.

Throughout the year, Girl Reserves have been learning to knit, instructions being given by club sponsors and others. No, the Girl Reserves aren't just sitting back and letting the world go on; they are doing all they can to help win this war.

Their officers are:

President, Margaret Poyser; First Vice-President, Letitia Loshbaugh; Second Vice-President, Virginia Bentz; Secretary, Marilyn Johnson; Correspondence Secretary, Marilou Schiltz; Treasurer, Norma Welter; Social Chairman, Louise Kerr; Program Chairman, Priscilla McCartney; Service Chairman, Anna Marie Whitmyer; Art Chairman, Dorothy Ford; Music Chairman, Catherine Ann Kipka; Pianist, Mary Kate Echols; Sponsor, Miss Ruth Kyle.

Ford tells the other officers.

Are you interested in art? if you are, hurry and join the Art club, for during their meetings the members have prominent art speakers who talk about sketching, painting and drawing. They undertake worthwhile things, educational as well as cultural: they exhibit their drawings and paintings at the Women's League, the Northern Indiana Teacher's Association at South Bend, and at Notre Dame: they study commercial art which is so important in the world today; the students visit the University Chapel of Chicago to see Antone Lang's wooden carvings; they always visit the Indiana Arts Palace at Chicago to study the famous architecture. With Miss Cole, their sponsor, the members take an annual pilgrimage to the Art Institute and Field Museum. About Christmas time they have a party and later, in the spring, they have a picnic. No one could help but notice the interesting war posters the art students have placed in the halls to boost the morale of the school, and we all will agree that they have succeeded quite well.

Officers for the fall semester:

President, Dorothy Ford; Vice-President, Phyllis Peck; Secretary, Charles Holmes; Treasurer, Marilynn Artley.

Officers for the spring semester:

President, Dorothy Ford; Vice-President, Stan Parsell; Secretary, Charles Holmes; Treasurer, Marilynn Artley. Do you have school spirit? If not, don't let the Triple L members get ahead of you, for these girls have been of active service to their school. Sponsored by Mrs. Boone, the members can usually be found helping at games, selling novelties and badges; or putting across pep sessions. However, the girls aren't always working for they enjoyed several theater parties and teas. Also every girl looked forward with joyful anticipation to the annual athletic party which was held early in the spring.

The three L's in the name of the club stand for "Leadership", "Learning", and "Loyalty"; these three characteristics certainly can be found in all the members.

The club has a membership of one hundred and ten, so you can easily see why there is a blue corduroy jacket with a Triple L on it everywhere you turn around.

Last semester officers:

President, Jeanne Crosier; Vice-President, Gayle Elliott; Secretary, Margaret Poyser; Treasurer, Lelah Bloomingdale; Social Chairman, Sue Drummond; Program Chairman, Betty LaFlower.

Present semester officers:

President, Jeanne Crosier; Vice-President, Julia Woodford; Secretary, Margaret Poyser; Treasurer, Lelah Bloomingdale; Social Chairman, Elizabeth Gustafson; Program Chairman, Betty La-Flower.

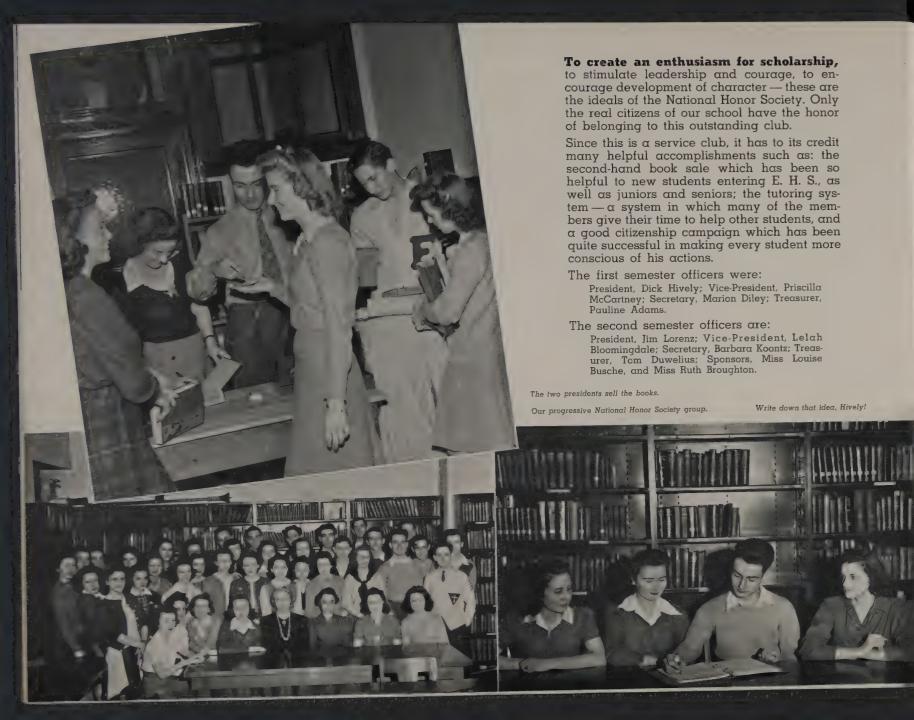

Here are the girls who stand for the 3-L's.

The Triple-L cabinet smiles for the cameraman.

The only all-student organization in Elkhart Senior High School is the Student Council. The purpose of this club is to develop leadership, self-control, and self-reliance among the students. The organization of this club is centered about committees and each member has a particular duty. One committee has prepared a school handbook, which describes every course and activity in our school. Another group cooperates with a faculty committee in selecting the paid assemblies for the next school year. In accordance with the war situation, a conservation program was carried out in which paper and metal were collected. The council has arranged to charter each club in the high school. During the school year, this organization, together with another school club, sponsored the "Bubbles Concerto". These and many other activities bring about a co-operative and good school spirit in addition to a sympathetic understanding between the students and the faculty.

The officers are elected by the semester. Those for the fall semester of 1941-42 were:

President, Stan Warner; Vice-President, John Longfellow Jr.; Secretary, Norma Welter; Treasurer, Dick Erdmann; Parliamentarian, Stan Parcell.

The officers for the spring semester 1941-42 are:

President, Stan Warner; Vice-President, Willard Chester; Secretary, Jean Diener; Treasurer, Dick Erdmann; Parliamentarian, Gilbert Weldy. The sponsors for the entire school year were C. P. Woodruff and Dean B. Smith.

Come, come, appoint that committee.

The legislators of E. H. S.

Where's your sewing, girls?
Is that the way you look at the target?

Phyllis Nye reads about far-off scenes. Catching up on the intellect with Miss Book.

Knitting, crocheting, sewing, embroidering, the purpose of the Needlecraft Club is to learn and practice these arts. Plans for an exhibit of completed articles at the end of the semester are being considered. The club has no officers. The sponsor is Miss Marie Siner.

If you're planning a trip and don't know what sites to take in, just go to the Travel club. Because of their speakers which consist of teachers, members of the club, and outside travelers, and the travel movies which they see, they should prove very helpful.

First semester officers:

President, Norman Parmer; Program Chairman, Phyllis Nye; Secretary-Treasurer, Charlotte Plummer.

Second semester officers:

President, Phyllis Nye; Program Chairmen, Norman Parmer and Kenneth Myers; Secretary-Treasurer, Jean Stutsman.

To develop knowledge, skill, and enjoyment with guns in hunting is the purpose of this club. The members have succeeded to a certain extent, for during their Thursday morning meetings, these thirty-nine members have learned new hunting techniques and have planned several hunting trips.

The club has as its sponsor, Mr. Baughman; the club officers are as follows:

Fall semester:

President, Robert Clyde; Secretary-Treasurer, Janice Walters.

Spring semester:

President, Gilda Mae Ulery; Vice-President, Robert Yonkes; Secretary-Treasurer, Robert Clyde; Sponsor, Mr. Baughman.

Attending to bulletin board displays . . . serving the student body . . . looking up library resources . . . trying to increase interest in reading . . . checking 'em in . . . checking 'em out . . . this is the purpose of the Library Assistants club.

The eleven members sponsored a students' Hit Parade during National Book Week, of fiction, non-fiction, and magazines.

Fall semester officers:

President, Dorothy Grames; Vice-President, Grace Palumbo; Secretary-Treasurer, Beatrice Fisher; Program Chairman, Bessie Peterson.

Spring semester officers:

President, Dorothy Grames; Vice-President, Grace Palumbo; Secretary-Treasurer, Ruby Meighen; Program Chairman, Marilou Wolfe; Sponsor, Miss Book.

When it comes to introducing a speaker, or representing Elkhart Senior High School in any kind of a speech contest, the Debate Club is always ready, willing, and able. This club annually promotes the school magazine drive, sponsors the oratory contest, presents radio broadcasts, introduces assembly speakers, and participates in the Defense Speakers Bureau. in addition to many other activities.

This club elects officers but once a year. They are:

President, John Longfellow Ir.: Vice-President. Elizabeth Larson; Secretary, William Cox; Treasurer. Lois Thornton.

The varsity team for the year 1942 was as follows: The affirmative: first speaker, Robert Sennholtz; second speaker, John Longfellow Ir.: and William Cox, alternate. The negative consisted of first speaker, Dick Weaver; second speaker, Lois Thornton; and alternate, Elizabeth Larson.

Mary Sproull speaking on the subject of Civil Liberties won first place in the annual contest for girls sponsored by members of the League of Women Voters.

Gilbert Weldy placed first in the local Rotary contest for boys and won second place honors in the district contest while speaking on the topic of Courtesy and Honesty in Business. In the state finals of the High School Discussion Contest Herbert Williams won second place and individual honors.

The national defense movement is speeded up by the efforts of the members of the Elkhart High School Radio Code club. Every day the members practice sending and receiving codes with one end in view—an amateur station license. When this goal is obtained, and we're sure it will be, the transmitter will be located in room 233.

This club has for its sponsor, Mr. Robert Fryklund, and elects officers once a year. They are:

President, Glenn Neff; Vice-President, Glenn Hurrli; Secretary, Melvin Corner; Treasurer, Walter Stewart.

The boys who do the dirty work . . . the boys the audience never sees . . . the boys behind the actors . . . our unsung heroes — all this very well describes the boys of the Stagecraft club crew. These boys are on duty, without fail, at every high school program, and yet they never get so much as a "thank you". Among other things, learning about the stage is one of their main objectives.

Just because it was recently organized does not stop the Junior Academy of Science from being well known in Elkhart, as well as in other towns. This publicity was made possible by the recent Tulip Tree Campaign which the club sponsored. "A tulip tree in every block" and "Elkhart: Tulip Tree Town of America" were the well-known slogans adopted. Going far over their goal in the number of trees sold, the club has been recognized ever since.

However, this club is not for work alone. The members always mix business with pleasure; they showed this in their trip to Turkey Run. Stopping at Greencastle to attend the state academy meeting, they told all about the Tulip Tree Campaign previously mentioned. Then they were off to Turkey Run State Park for a night and a day.

The club has profited also through hearing many famous speakers. In addition to the local health inspectors, doctors, and nurses, the chief taxidermist at the Field Museum in Chicago was featured by them this winter in a school assembly. This program, interesting as well as educational, was made picturesque by the colored movies which were shown.

The members have also visited many places of interest around Elkhart; such as, the Feeble-Minded Institute at Fort Wayne, and the laboratories at Notre Dame University.

Those in the club have certain requirements to live up to in order to retain their membership. Each year, the members which complete a notable project for that year, are recommended for membership in the State Academy of Science. The enthusiasm of the club is largely a result of the keen interests of the sponsors, Mr. Adams and Miss Wagoner. Without these two able leaders, the J. A. S. wouldn't be all that it is.

The Biology club is partly responsible for the Tulip Tree campaign. Students with scientific interests are permitted and encouraged to develop these interests in the Biology club. Members must secure twenty-five points per year, in order to be eligible for membership the following year. The points may be secured by undertaking certain projects. At present, there are eighteen such projects developing.

The Pennant Weekly has some competition from the Science News; the club paper which is published bi-monthly. During the summer, ambitious members may earn twenty-five points towards membership in the Junior Academy of Science, by raising a Victory Garden. The club meets every Thursday, and conducts meetings which are of a scientific nature.

Soph Sports Club

Listen to White's advice Several clubs in E.H.S. are seldom heard about, and the Sophomore Boys' Sports club is one of these. This club is a very valuable organization, for the members work hand in hand with the Junior-Senior Boys' Sports Club to promote better sportsmanship on the part of the participant and the spectator. The most important ideal of this club, however, is to increase "school spirit". We will agree that these boys have succeeded, for "school spirit" has certainly increased within the last year. The members have also had interesting speakers who have told them about the rules and techniques of major and minor sports. Keep up the good work, boys, we're all behind you.

Everyone likes a good athlete and sportsman; therefore, if you want to be liked by everyone, join the Junior-Senior Boys' Sports club. The members of this club, under the guidance of Mr. Berkey, our new coach, are learning the rules and techniques of major and minor sports. The boys are promoting good sportsmanship among Elkhart fans and the players are really the heroes behind our "school spirit." They are doing all they can to help boost school sports. During the Thursday morning meetings, many interesting speakers have added to the purpose of their club. Come on, boys, join this club, for everyone might as well be "all out" for "school spirit."

Peering into the lives of Greek and Roman gods and goddesses is one of the chief occupations of the Mythology Club. This is made interesting by skits and impersonations by the members. One of the highlights of the school year was the trip to Ball State at Muncie, Indiana, to the Latin club conference. Those students who have two or less years of Latin are members. After the second year, they automatically become members of the Latin club. At the close of the school year, 1941, the Mythology club members were guests of a Latin club at a Roman banquet. This year, before the final meeting, the club enjoyed a picnic at Baugo Creek.

Mrs. Avery Mythology Club and Officers

Doing as the Romans did makes up most of the activities of the Latin club. The members usually complete the school year with the Roman banquet. At this banquet there are slaves and everyone eats with his fingers. The members of the Mythology club are guests at this banquet. Instead of going by their own names, each member chooses a name of a Greek god or goddess.

The officers are elected as the officers of the Roman Senate were elected. The counsels are the presidents. They are two in number to prevent each other from getting too much power. The aedile is Vice-President, the scriba, the secretary, and the quaestor, the treasurer.

The main purpose of the Latin club is to acquaint the members with the customs of our ancestors, and also to help one to know and speak the English language better. Although many people consider Latin as dull and silly, it is the gateway to the old classical world which still is and always will be, very mysterious and interesting.

The PENNANT WEEKLY had a good year. Under the capable managership of Tom Witter, business manager, and Mimi Schmidt, ad manager, the Weekly finances were in better shape than in the past two years. Special issues added variety to the regular issues, and a rotogravure section once a month gave interesting additions to the school news. Myers' editorial columns kept interest in school activities alive, and features, as usual, caused all readers to turn first to page two.

A good deal of good-natured feuding goes on between the Annual and Weekly staffs, but underneath the publications office is a sound organization which does more than a five thousand dollar business each year, and manages to stay out of the red. The Pennant office is one of the few organizations which owns its own furniture and equipment. All the desks, typewriters, and equipment have been purchased with staff funds.

Few of you who turn these pages realize how much money and how many hours of work have gone into the building of this book . . . the yearbook costs more than three dollars a copy: advertising, and the money paid by each organization make it possible for you to have it for two dollars. Sponsored by the senior class, it is a fitting gift which each graduating class leaves to the school.

Sophs and more Sophs!

Brush up on your acting ability, Sophomores, and join the Sophomore Dramatics club. This club is usually a scene of busy activity. Numerous plays, short skits, and radio programs are enjoyed by the students during their Thursday morning meetings. One member, Dick Rogers, wrote, produced, and acted in a number of humorous sketches. Orson Welles has nothing on Dick. Blackouts have even been held by the club members; therefore, these boys and girls are also doing their part for the defense of our country.

With Mrs. Ada Sickels as sponsor, these officers have led the ninety-four members through a successful year:

Defying the old superstition of "Friday the thirteenth," the junior class presented "June Mad" on Friday evening, March 13, at 8:13. This comedy in three acts was written by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements.

The play centers around the Wood's living room. Everyone in the neighborhood seems to congregate there, much to Dr. Wood's consternation. Penny Wood's attempts at womanhood, which is the problem of almost every girl of her age, constitute the main plot of "June Mad". A neighborhood chum causes much excitement and anxiety when he attempts a flight in his homemade glider. Penny's uncle, G. Mervyn Roberts brings home a college friend, Roger Van Vleck, who is a rich cosmopolite. All the girls put on airs to impress him, but in the end ignore him.

"June Mad" was directed by Mr. Ben Hudelson, with the assistance of Phyllis J. Platt and Bob Frederick, student directors.

''The Late Christopher Bean,'' a comedy in three acts by Sidney Howard, was given by the senior class of 1942, on Friday evening, May 15.

The dining room of the Haggett's house, not far from Boston, is where the scene is laid. The first action in the play is the announcement that a painter, Christopher Bean had died in a New England village. Only a few dirty oil paintings did he leave to Dr. Haggett for his efforts to cure. No one appreciates these canvasses, which are used in the chicken coop and as scratch paper. Later on in the play it is discovered that the late Christopher Bean's genius was worth a fortune. Dr. Haggett and his wife madly search all over for Bean's masterpieces.

Assistant directors Dorothea Denman and Martha Ashley helped Mr. Ben Hudelson in the direction of the play. Costumes were in charge of Marj. Kehres, Jeanne Hoffman, and Donna Borger. The property committee consisted of Barbara Koontz, Coleen Cone, Betty Laflower, and Marilyn Johnson. The make-up was under the supervision of Marianna Spade. Jim Wayne, Mary Chester, and Lois Clayton were in charge of the scenery.

Other helpers were: Jim Lorenz, business manager, Bob Meyers and Miriam Schmidt, advertising managers, and Dorothy Ford, who planned the program. Gilbert Weldy and Dick Hively were in charge of the ticket sale, with Priscilla McCartney, Dick Erdmann, Marion Diley, Ed Borger, Margaret Poyser, Bill Bunn, Maricatherine Nadolny, Ray Humecke, Pat Straub, and Stan Warner as captains.

Hiding all nervousness, we seniors passed through the ordeal of tryouts... the cast and directors read the play... night after night we practiced on the stage... Abbey (Meg) in the spotlight... the scenery committee painting the "set."

These two men, Mr. David W. Hughes and Mr. Richard Herzig are responsible for many of the musical honors that come to Elkhart, the musical town.

Mr. Hughes has served as Director of Instrumental Music in the Elkhart City Schools for twelve years. Since the day when graduating from high school, Mr. Hughes refused a professional offer, he has held many responsible positions in many different localities.

At the present, in addition to all his work in Elkhart, he serves as the president of the Northern Indiana State Band and Orchestra Association. For the past four years he has acted as vice-chairman of Region 3, in charge of the band contests. Mr. Hughes has also been a member for three years of the National Competitive Board which governs contests all over the United States.

During the week and over weekends, Mr. Hughes was kept busy by requests to act as a judge at the Iowa state and Kentucky state contests and to direct a clinic at Kentucky and the Southwestern Orchestra Clinic at Niles, Michigan.

One source of aid to Mr. Hughes in the affairs of the music department is the Music Parents Association. This organization helps the music department with finances, band trips, and publicity for the concerts. The club also provides numerous social evenings for the department.

Mr. Herzig, Director of Vocal Music in high and junior high schools, is a member of the Executive Board of the Indiana Educator's Conference and he will serve as the chairman of the music section at the State Teachers' Meeting to be held at South Bend next year.

Mr. Herzig and his group serve the public by appearing on programs before numerous Elkhart civic organizations. This winter Mr. Herzig was the tenor soloist in "The Messiah" at Manchester College. He also took part in the minstrel show sponsored by our local Chamber of Commerce. The entire student body is thrilled when Mr. Herzig sings. As he leads us in group singing, we sing a little more softly so that we may listen to his tenor voice.

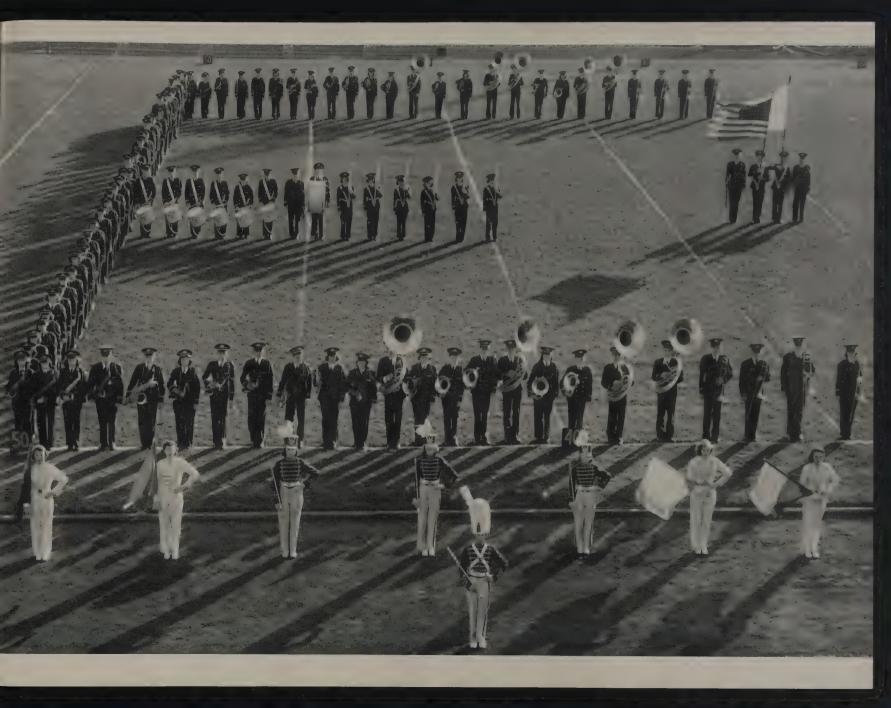

The Band assembled at the beginning of the first semester of the school year of 1941-42. A marching band was selected which played for all of the home football games and participated in several of the city parades throughout the year. The band also traveled to Goshen and South Bend to play at the Goshen-Elkhart and South Bend Central-Elkhart games.

The large band was divided into three smaller bands for the basketball games because of the limited amount of space in the gymnasium. These three small bands alternated in playing for all of the home games. This plam gave some of the students a chance to attend the game without having to play every time.

The Concert Band opened its regular season with a concert on Thursday, December 4, 1941. The soloists on this concert were Bob Franklin, who played Carnival of Venice, and Maxine Fields, who played The Wanderer. On Thursday, February 5, 1942, the band presented its second concert. The soloists on this program were Maxine Yerke, who played Concertino, and Doris Holdeman, who played The Wren. The third concert of the season took place on Thursday, April 9, 1942: Soloists were Glendora Brown, who played William Tell, and Donald Gray, who played My Regards. The fourth and last concert of the season, dedicated to the Seniors, was held on Friday, May 22, 1942.

On Sunday, January 11, 1942, the band, directed by Mr. Hughes, broadcasted on the National Broadcasting Company on a coast-to-coast hook-up. This was the second time that the band had been invited to play on this program.

On March 8, 1942, the band entertained the Sunday Evening Club before the lecture which was given by Charles Eagle Plume, an American Indian.

A party was held for members of the band and orchestra on Friday, May 1, 1942, in the cafeteria. In addition to the Senior Concert, the Seniors were honored especially at a banquet given in their honor on June 3, at the Y. W. C. A.

The band closed its season by playing for commencement on Thursday, June 4, 1942, at Rice Field.

First division soloists and ensembles are numerous in the Elkhart High School band and orchestra. There was no National Contest this year so the band, as a whole, did not enter any contest because of their national rating. However, soloists and ensembles did compete in District and State Contest.

Those band members winning honors in the State Contest were:

Throughout the year many soloists and ensembles have appeared before local religious organizations, service clubs, and social organizations. The band also played for all our pep meetings, before the athletic games, for the basketball and football banquets, and for the defense assemblies which were featured during the last semester.

In honor of the departing draftees, a small pep band played for each contingent.

The Elkhart High School Symphonic Orchestra appeared in concert four times this year. The first concert was given December 4, 1941. At this concert Miss Loretta Carlson, the new string instructor, was introduced to the public of Elkhart.

The second concert, presented February 5, featured two soloists: Robert Winter in α violin concerto and Marjorie Kehres, in α piano solo. On April 9, the third concert had as its soloists Audra Jean Brown, cellist, and α flute trio. The fourth concert was presented on May 22, in honor of the seniors.

The Elkhart High School Orchestra was awarded first division in national competition at Flint, Michigan, May 17, 1941.

On January 11, the string orchestra participated in a nationwide radio broadcast together with the band. The orchestra presented short concerts on February 9, for the student body and on February 22, for the Sunday Evening Club.

A group of players went to South Bend, October 23, and 24, for the teachers' convention. Together with students of Northern Indiana schools, they were directed by Mr. George Dasch, of the Chicago Little Symphony. Orchestra members visited Chicago, January 24, to hear the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Frederick Stock.

The orchestra furnished music for the Junior play, March 13, and the Senior play, May 15. They also played for the two senior days, and accompaniment for the choir concert. Soloists and ensembles of the orchestra have played at various times for several civic organizations of the community.

Added to the equipment of the Instrumental Music Department this year was a celeste. This instrument was featured in the second concert with Marjorie Kehres as soloist.

First division winners at the State Solo and Ensemble Contest at Butler were: cello, Audra Jean Brown; violin, Robert Reser; string Quintette I, Robert Winter, Philip Mollenhour, Barbara Koontz, Audra Jean Brown, and Anna Marie Friday; string quintette II, Robert Reser, Jack Witmer, Nellie Clawson, Geraldine Miller, and Ruby Meighen; string trio, Robert Winter, Marilyn Buchanan, and Marjorie Kehres.

The purpose of the Reserve Band is to train members for the high school band; in fact, some of its members play in high school marching band. Occasionally they have parties with the senior band. Mr. Harold Bettcher directs this group.

They have election of officers but once a year.

The high school choir has had a busy year under the direction of Mr. Richard Herzig. They started off by singing with the city band the "Ballad for Americans" which they also later presented in high school and junior high assemblies.

In October part of the choir joined with some of the other choirs in Indiana to sing for the teachers at a state meeting. The well-known Olaf Christiansen directed.

Twice this year the choir has received technical criticisms. First a vocal clinic was held at Michigan City on Nov. 21, 1941. Nobel Cain, who has written and arranged many of the choir's numbers, was there to give the people advice about how to sing and how not to sing. Secondly the choir and the boys' Glee club, the Girls' Glee club, the Boys' Quartette and a Girls' Sextet entered the state contest at Butler, Indiana. The choir at this time won first division honors. Both of the Glee Clubs took second division and the ensembles took third division.

The first concert of the year was held on Nov. 13, 1941, in the auditorium. At this time, in response to many requests, Mr. Herzig sang a number of vocal solos. Later in the year the choir was asked to sing at one of the Sunday Evening Club programs. The concert presented on March 24, by the choir was the last public performance of the choir before the baccalaureate services.

Three big parties have been enjoyed by the choir as a relaxation from the steady work of the year. For a Hallowe'en party the choir took over the roller rink for one evening. In February, during one of the heavy snows, the choir enjoyed a sleigh ride. As a climax to their parties the choir, in April, went for a good old-fashioned hayride.

Eight athletic bosses have led Elkhart High School through another highly successful year of wins and losses, with all sports finishing well above the 500 mark. Credit for these favorable results goes to these athletic instructors who have spent much time and work, both during and after school hours.

The outstanding loss suffered by E. H. S. in sports was that of the leaving of the extremely well-liked Head Coach, Don Veller, who was called to the service of his country. Parallel to Don's past seven seasons, this year's squad produced outstanding results: nine wins with a single loss, a Co-conference Championship, and a ranking as the third best high school team in the state. The man who will now fill the position as head football coach is Harrison P. Berkey. His fine inexperienced line of last fall again equalled the backfield and ''Kotch'' will undoubtedly develop a good team next autumn. The new assistant coach is the former "Sandbur" instructor, S. A. Campagnoli. Next fall will undoubtedly find him with more varsity work to do than he has had before, and we know he'll continue his successful work.

So good a reputation has Coach John Longfellow that the fans consider Elkhart's basketball season a failure whenever they lose nine and win only eleven. Regardless of the record, the boys really learn a lot of basketball under this able coach. This year's squad was composed of three seniors, six juniors, and one sophomore; next year should find Elkhart with a number-one team.

Probably the best known faculty member of our high school athletic organization is Chelsea Boone. Speaking at "pep" sessions and banquets, forecasting the outcome of sports events, and throwing light on any subject are natural pastimes for "Chelse" . . . his track boys are enlightened the most. Both his track and crosscountry squads ran up a long column of wins on the record books this year.

Many fine netmen have followed Coach Raymond Sorenson's teachings and have found that they give good results. Besides knowing how, "Hap" is very capable of demonstrating the fine points of play to the Racquet wallopers: he plays a mighty tough game. His boys again finished second in the conference as the E. H. S. teams have for the last two years.

Lester Kerr has done exceptionally well in the past, and if his baseball teams continue as they are at present, the future is a bright one. His capability is proved by the fact that since baseball has been a part of E. H. S. sports, four Kerrmen have gone professional. Everytime a ticket is purchased at the ticket office or presented at the gate, much time and planning have been done by Riley Jordam. His work is just as important as the coaches; E. H. S. Athletics could not succeed without this capable, pleasant gentleman.

Varsity football — starting out with a veteran backfield, made a good showing in the fall of '41. The season opened with a victory over Sullivan, an "above average" Chicago team. Bob Osterloo, a part of a fairly inexperienced line, launched the opening kick-off.

In the second game, nine passes (seven by Terlep and two by Ulis) were completed, for a marginal victory over Fort Wayne Central. Gaining the lead in the first seven minutes, the Blazers held it for the rest of the game; Hardy crossed the goal-line four times in the first half.

The LaPorte game brought the first conference competition of the season. A large crowd filled the bleachers on this fine fall evening, and enjoyed the maneuvers of the band, and the Blazer conquest of a strong opponent. Wide end sweeps and "luftwaffe" passes, combined to produce the shut-out score.

No longer were the boys in the front line being called green; no longer was only the backfield referred to as "stars". The fans were beginning to wonder if, maybe . . . In the game against Riley of South Bend, spectacular punting, fast low-charging linemen (particularly Montagano), airtight defense, and headwork were factors which gained the victory. A fumble and an offside cost the Blazers two other touchdowns which would have made a more satisfying total.

Next Mishawaka, where a capacity crowd, in Tupper Stadium, saw Elkhart drive to two touchdowns: one after seventy-one yards (a pass and reverse), and one after a continuous eighty-yard march. Line plunges, long passes, wide runs, brilliant blocks . . . these were carrying the Blazers along the victory road.

The road continued westward, to Michigan City, and the victories continued . . . six in a row, now. Glasgow romped thirty-eight yards on a beautiful reverse for the first touchdown; two others followed shortly; the Blazers scored twenty points in the first quarter. With this comfortable lead, Coach Veller used a great number of reserves throughout the rest of the game.

Goshen . . , the grudge battle of the year. The largest crowd ever jammed into Foreman Field watched at least three Blazer teams score heavily against one of the best Goshen elevens of recent years. Statistics show that the Blazers held the opposition without a single first down. Tom Saunders turned in a fine performance.

Unbeaten since 1939, Central of Evansville, untied and unbeaten, met Elkhart, untied and unbeaten, in a sea of mud on Rice Field in the biggest Northern-Southern battle of the season. The Blazers, punting on early downs, got dividends in touchdowns in every period of the contest; the first one came, when Stan Warner, in the first minutes of the first quarter, returned a punt for forty yards.

POST-SEASON

Flkhart	12	South I	Bend	Washington	19

Gridiron Review

The 14-0 win over South Bend Central gave the Blazers the title of Co-Champions of the Eastern Division. Both teams displayed a powerful offense, but Elkhart had a stronger defense, Galasso and Crowfoot starring. With the gaining of this title, the question "Where next?" was in the minds of thousands of fans following this last regularly-scheduled game. Post-season game: uncertainty, differences of opinion, aroused sentiment, delay . . , these were experienced by the Blue and White followers on Thanksgiving day. Principal Holdeman and Coach Veller were leaders in trying to make satisfactory arrangements with the Washington and Lew Wallace officials.

At last the decision was made and the game was played with Washington of South Bend. Captain Raeder and John Wallin starred for the "Breakfast Food Club" as over eleven thousand fans watched, and many more thousands listened to the game which was a regrettable finale for those seniors who were playing their last time on Rice Field.

In the fall of '42, Head Coach Berkey and Assistant Coach Campagnoli will have an extremely difficult task to begin and finish. A coach always has a tough time filling vacant positions left by graduating seniors, but when the head coach is new and nine of last year's first eleven are gone, the job becomes even more hopeless.

However, the probable facts are not as discouraging as they might seem. "Kotch" was Assistant Coach and he is fully capable of handling the additional responsibilities. He also has a valuable helper in "Camp". As for the boys, they look bigger and better than the '41 team did at the corresponding time. With Hardy, Miceli, Kessler, Conant, Ingram, and a few others returning, Berkey should be able to develop a fine first team. One possibility that may handicap the squad's chances is that there might be a lack of substitutes. The seniors of '42 wish Captain Hardy and the boys much success in solving these prospective problems.

THE "BREAKFAST FOOD BOYS"

- 1. CLIFF RAEDER Captain, and one of the best ends ever developed under Veller. Playing right end, he received the All-Conference honor. Pass-catching and defensive playing were his specialties.
- 2. BOB OSTERLOO The 207-pound place-kicking left tackle. His weight and size were used to great advantage in every game: particularly in those rainy and snowy games.
- 3. JOE GALASSO Left guard who delighted in mussing up the opposition's offense. "Jolting" Joe specialized in the submerging type of play with great success.
- 4. JOHN WALLIN Although he weighed only 156 pounds, John was one of the best centers in the state. His ability was proved by the fact that he made no bad passes all season.
- 5. REX CROFOOT His team-mates considered Rex as one of the hardest-hitting blockers on the eleven. His speed was a great asset.
- 6. TONY MONTAGANO Elkhart's hard-charging right tackle. Tony was picked for All-Conference for his brilliant line play: the Riley game was a sample.

- 7. TOM SAUNDERS One of the two underclassmen on the starting eleven, this 150-pound right end did very well.

 Next year should find "Minnie" at the top.
- 8. ERNIE GLASGLOW Running, blocking, pass-catching, right halfback. "Chops", a former fullback, was the swivel-hipped ball carrier on Elkhart's famous reverse.
- 9. GEORGE TERLEP George was the Angelo Bertelli of Elkhart High. "Duke's" great passing ability gained him α place on the All-State team.
- 10. STAN WARNER Versatile quarterback winning his fourth straight letter. Stan was one of the best blockers and tacklers Elkhart has recently had. He developed into a very good coffin-corner punter.
- 11. BILL HARDY 1942-Captain-elect, All-Conference, and high scorer give an accurate account of Bill's value. Hitting the opposing lines with his great speed and power, he got yardage when yardage was needed.

Varsity basketball once more took on a stiff schedule and completed it with more victories than defeats. In comparison with the last year or so, the squad did much better and conquered some strong opponents.

The Blazer squad showed promising form by turning back the Bristol Hilltoppers in the initial game of the season. This game was played without the aid of six regulars from the football squad who had not participated in enough practices.

The second hardwood engagement was also won from a scrappy Concord five. In this, the Blazers showed some great earlyseason form.

On Friday, the thirteenth, Elkhart won another easy victory over Wabash. "Windy" Windmiller turned in a fine performance, by scoring six field goals.

Next came S. B. Washington who had beaten the Blazers on the gridiron a few weeks before. This time, Elkhart turned on their scoring power to earn a decided victory.

Bob Osterloo, scoring eighteen points, and company stacked up the season's highest score on a new Michigan foe, St. Joe.

Blazers scrambling for the ball with the Conference Champs.

After a long hard trip to Greenburg, the Blue and White handed another new foe their first defeat. Elkhart was receiving a lot of publicity at this time, but as the season progressed, the fans realized that the Blue Avalanche had hit an early winning streak that usually comes much later in the schedule.

The Goshen Redskins put an end to this string of victories by defeating the Blazers in a hard-fought battle.

After recovering from the Goshen set back, Elkhart won two unquestionable victories: one from La Porte and one from Kendall-ville. In the La Porte game, the Blue and White took an early lead and held it all the way with Osterloo collecting thirteen points. The Kendallville game was very similar to the La Porte game.

Three good teams appeared on the schedule about this time, each one to defeat the Blue and White: Michigan City and Warsaw seemed to have the situation well in hand most of the time, but Mishawaka was barely able to squeeze out a two-point margin at the time the gun sounded.

The S. B. Riley Wildcats invaded the E. H. S. gym and suffered a painful defeat at the hands of Elkhart. Team work seemed to be the main factor in this Blazer victory.

Next North Side, who can usually be counted on to have a strong team, defeated the Blazers at Ft. Wayne. Shortly following the contest, the Nappanee Bulldogs fell prey to Elkhart.

Once again, three defeats were in store for Coach Longfellow and the boys. Although Elkhart led at the first quarter gun, the Ft. Wayne North Side team pulled ahead to win three quarters later. S. B. Central won the conference but the Blue Avalance came within one field goal of winning this game. Once again a Blazer-Redskin feud took place and again Goshen won.

Elkhart won the last game against John Adams in the S. B. gym.

SECTIONALS

In one of the most exciting contests of the sectionals, the Goshen Redskins, winner of the tournament, once more dealt Elkhart a losing hand in the Blazers gym. The lead constantly changed back and forth between the two quintets and, as had been the case several times before, the Blazers were just one point behind when the final gun sounded.

Racqueteers—BOB MYERS — captain, number one man and only senior on the squad, suffered a mid-season slump in the third year of his varsity competition but managed to contribute many points in both singles and doubles to end with a three-year record of seventeen wins and seven losses in singles play.

GERHART KALKOFEN — number two man, won eight singles and lost none. Gerhart's forcing strokes made him hard to beat. A junior, Kalkofen will be a valuable asset to next fall's team.

JIM EBERSOLE — the other undefeated singles player, sophomore and captain-elect of the '42 squad, developed a smashing forehand drive and serve that proved to be too much for the opposition.

CHUCK COLE—the junior number four man playing for his first year, helped win important points on the number two doubles team with his dependable ground strokes.

RICHARD GUTERMUTH — Although Dick, α junior, didn't get to play in many matches, he was a capable substitute and should see a lot of action on the '42 conference squad.

Coach Raymond "Hap" Sorenson's 1941 EHS tennis squad ended its fall season with a record identical with that of the two previous seasons—second place in the conference standings, being again nosed out by South Bend Central.

After winning six straight matches, the Elkhart netters met Central at Leeper park October 6th for the match that was to decide the championship. Winning two out of three of the singles, Elkhart's chances for victory looked excellent; however, the number two doubles team was beaten and the number one doubles team, after losing the first set, 5-7, rallied to win the second set, 7-5; the match had to be postponed because of darkness.

Saturday morning, October 7, EHS's conference chances were blacked-out when Coquillard and Gorrell downed Kalkofen and Myers, 6-0, in the final set.

Whitewashing Riley in the last match, the EHS netters completed the season with seven victories and one defeat.

Although the '41 track squad failed to show up well at the Gary Invitational indoor meet at Notre Dame, it did finish the season with flying colors. After the squad had opened the season with a win over South Bend Central, they lost two handicap meets to Warsaw and Goshen. Later in the season, the Blue Streaks defeated Goshen in a regular meet. Elkhart was out-pointed by Mishawaka in the only regular meet loss experienced by the Blazers.

After the state meet at Indianapolis, Coach Boone took just underclassmen to Fort Wayne South Side to compete in a post-season meet. This meet, counting as a '42 contest, was lost by a very close score.

Captain Ray Troup of the '41 squad scored exactly 100 points to earn a place among the leading all-time high track scorers of E. H. S. Ray's performances in the low hurdles, which included a new record, were as fine as his 440 triumph later in the season.

The season of '42 again started with the indoor meet at Notre Dame; this year, the results were more favorable than they had been the year before. South Bend Central was the first opponent in a dual meet at Rice Field. The Blue and White boys lost this initial contest in a cold, windy rain. Elkhart then began winning many victories, which included those over Goshen, Warsaw, and Riley.

In cross country Coach C. C. Boone had such letterwinners returning as Darr, Humecke, Brumbaugh, and Dietch in addition to Todd, Cressler, Miller, Kern, Osborne, and many other enthusiastic prospects.

The season opened with the Blue Blazers gaining wins over Riley, Niles, and Central. This winning stretch was cut short by Ft. Wayne, but more victories were near by. The team finished the schedule with a record of nine wins and three losses.

Elkhart's Harriers placed fourth at the Conference meet and later captured the eighth position in the State meet at Indianapolis.

Although the '41 squad lost three contests, E.H.S. had a very fine team. One defeat came at the hands of Ft. Wayne North Side, who later won the Indiana State Championship. Kalamazoo, another victor over the Blue Avalanche, won the Michigan State Championship. A high ranking team of Michigan, Benton Harbor, won the remaining Blazer loss.

Coach Boone Remarks on the Boys

BOB DARR — In true Darr tradition, Bob was out in front during most of his races this season. Experts have said that Darr is a perfect runner. At Goshen, Bob broke the record he set in 1940. On a long course of loose sand and gravel, Bob ran the distance in the fastest time recorded on that course during the '41 season.

RAY HUMECKE — Captain Humecke has been tough competition for Elkhart's opponents throughout his three years on the team. He was a good leader and always an inspiration to his teammates. As cross country and track captain, Ray could be counted on to run well up among the finishers.

JOHN BRUMBAUGH — who will be next year's captain, finished the season as number three man. Myrl Dietch, one of the smaller veterans, and Bill Todd, a new boy who showed up very well, beat out several veterans for the number four and five positions, respectively.

Conference Nov. 1, at Gary, placed 4th.

State, Nov. 8, at Indianapolis, placed 8th.

As the "national pastime" made its entrance in E. H. S. sports in the spring of '41, the Blazer nine looked like one of the top teams in the Northern Indiana Conference and proved their expectation more so by winning five of the first six games in the first half of the schedule. A fine display of team work was shown during these contests, particularly in the Washington and Central games. Then after suffering a set-back at the hands of Michigan City, the Blazer nine continued losing and failed to pull out by the end of the season, thus losing eight of the remaining nine conference games, several of them being very good games.

In the spring of '42 Gene Phillips, Kenny White, Chuck Salee, and Marvin Stump returned to form the nucleus of another good team. Gene's exceptionally fine pitching and the team's hitting power were major factors contributing to the season's success.

Miss Laffler and the gals in the "Royal Order" of the Discobolus.

Girls in activities—the Discobolus program had been increased even more this year. The season began with an initiation party held in the cafeteria, October 7th. The following week the ambitious girls of the club, arose at five A. M. to travel in the cold for a bicycle hike and a breakfast of bacon, eggs, and rolls. As usual, the club sold at several football and basketball games, and presented a pep session before the South Bend game.

Officers elected for the second semester were: Dorothea Denman, President; Charlotte Denman, Vice-President; Jeanne Crosier, Secretary; Marilyn Johnson, Treasurer; Betty LaFlower, Social Chairman; Phyllis Bates, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Girls from Goshen, South Bend, and Elkhart participated in a basketball Playday, February 14th. After the games, the girls enjoyed sports films and a luncheon.

According to plans made for an annual festival, they presented a highly-successful Gym Show, March 21st on the theme, "Building a Strong America", under the capable guidance of Miss Lafler. This proved that girls, as well as boys, can offer entertainment in sports.

Thirty-four new members were initiated at a pot-luck supper, held in the cafeteria on April 10th.

The Club sponsored a Track Field Day for fifth and sixth grade pupils at Rice Field on May 12th.

The large annual spring banquet was held at the Hotel Elkhart, May 21, at which awards were given to outstanding girl athletes in each sport. Colored films of the girls in active sport, taken with the Club's new movie camera, were shown.

Both the Club members and other students will await Miss Lafler's return, after a year's leave of absence, during which she will study for a higher degree.

With the motto: "A sport for every girl, and every girl a good sport," the club looks forward to even greater accomplishments in the future.

Bowling probably had more participants than any of the other girls' sports, which necessitated having it two nights a week. The high scoring team for the Thursday league consisted of: Donnabelle Green, captain; Norma Jean Treckelo, Doris Parrott, Mary Connor, and Sue Drummond. The high individual scorer was Claribal Blazer, the bowling manager, with an average of 127. The high team which bowled on Thursday was: Nadine Hart, captain; Bev Miller, Miriam Myers, Marian Diley and Betty Duesler. Eileen Dow had the highest individual average of 120.

The usual play offs were held in Badminton with Charlotte Denman and Phyllis Bates winning the finals.

Betty Duesler and Helen Parker were outstanding in fencing. High scores for the first semester archery were won by Lucille Battesta and Phyllis Bates.

Girl selected for their ability to participate in the Basketball Play Day were Marty Jo Kline, Virginia Scott, Betty Osterloo, Ester Burrell, Charlotte Denman, Phil Bates, Margery Shelly, Miriam Myers, Mary Gord, Artis Landis, Phyllis Fahnestock and Joyce Walters.

When it comes to defense, they've got it,

That's down their alley; will it go in? Out to tennis-on bikes.

THE NEW HOME THAT YOU'RE GOING TO BUILD IN 1960. . .

Yes sir, we're already planning for that new home that you are going to build some day. In that new home you'll have many conveniences that seem far above the realm of luxury today. Your home will be completely air conditioned the year around with a small, compact gas unit that will warm and humidify your home in winter and automatically cool and dehumidify the air in summer. You'll have many other modern gas servants also, such as an automatic gas range, gas refrigerator, and automatic water heater.

It is our business to plan far enough ahead so that the homes in our territory may have higher standards of living, thanks to adequate and dependable modern gas service.

In war, as in peace, the health of the nation must be safeguarded. Here in Elkhart we are doing our part, through constant scientific research, to find new ways of relieving the ills of mankind and thereby make this a happier world in which to live.

Part of the Control Laboratory

Many Elkhart High School alumni are engaged in helping us carry on this work. We are glad to have them with us. In our manufacturing departments, in our research laboratories, and in our office they all are doing their part. So, whenever you hear the National Barn Dance, the Quiz Kids, Lum and Abner or the Alka-Seltzer News of the World on your radio—telling how good Alka-Seltzer and One-A-Day (brand) Vitamin Tablets are—remember that Elkhart High has a place in this success story, too.

"For the American Girl"

For many years now . . . come high water, sleet and snow, epidemics and strikes . . . we have pedaled into town to help on the yearbook. Sometimes we took pictures, other times made layouts, helped mount photographs, talked about copy. But we always came.

The Annual has consistently been one of the best in the country. That's become a habit, in spite of the fact that there is such a thing as a budget to stay within.

But we've had fun, and what we have enjoyed most . . . and this may seem as old fashioned as the "high-wheeler" . . . are the many fine friends we have made on the Annual staff, the faculty and in the student body. Publishing a good annual is hard work, but it's worth it.
